

Notes on Contributors

Dorian Barrow A. is a Lecturer in Science Education at the School of Education, UWI, St. Augustine.

Jerome De Lisle is Senior Lecturer in Educational Administration in the School of Education, UWI, St. Augustine. His current areas of research are in the areas of evaluation, policy, and educational assessment.

Stephen Joseph has accumulated over 25 years of teaching experience at the secondary and tertiary levels of the education system. He has extensive experience in the area of curriculum development and implementation. He also spent six years at the Ministry of Education as the Project Manager for Quality Improvement, in the Trinidad and Tobago Secondary Education Modernization Programme. Dr. Joseph holds a B.A. in History from UWI, and an M.A. in History and a Ph.D. in Education, with specialization in Curriculum and Instruction, from Andrews University. He is currently employed at The University of Trinidad and Tobago (UTT) as an Assistant Professor of Education and also serves as Academic Administrator/Programme Leader at the Valsayn Campus.

Rawatee Maharaj-Sharma is a Lecturer in Science Education (Physics) at the School of Education, The University of the West Indies (UWI), St. Augustine. She previously lectured at York University, Canada for 5 years in Physics and Astronomy.

Paulette A. Ramsay is a Senior Lecturer in the Faculty of Humanities and Education, at UWI, Mona, Jamaica. She is an interdisciplinary academic, and an established writer and researcher whose interests include Language Pedagogy, Writing Theories, and Afro-Hispanic literature and culture. She has published many scholarly articles, mainly in the area of Afro-Hispanic literature and culture, in international journals, as well as translations of a novel, poetry, and short stories from Spanish into English. She has been the recipient of several awards including OAS and AECI Fellowships and the UWI 60th Anniversary Award for outstanding research.