

Contributing Authors

Shalinee Bahadur is an undergraduate student in Sociology, at the Faculty of Social Sciences, The University of the West Indies, St. Augustine Campus. Bahadur is also the Public Relations Officer for The UWI Socialist Student Conference.

Liazzat J. K. Bonate (PhD) is a Lecturer in History of Africa at The UWI St Augustine, Trinidad and Tobago. Her research focuses on Islam, matriliney and power in colonial and post-colonial northern Mozambique, and the place of that region within the Indian Ocean and Swahili networks.

Raegan Gibbings is an undergraduate student in Political Science, at the Faculty of Social Sciences, The University of the West Indies, St. Augustine Campus. Gibbings is also the Chairperson of The UWI Socialist Student Conference.

Vidra Madoo is a graduate of The University of the West Indies, St. Augustine Campus where she pursued a Bachelors of Arts in History. She is currently enrolled at The Arthur Lok Jack Global School of Business where she is pursuing an International Masters of Business Administration.

Gelien Matthews (Ph.D.) is a lecturer in History at the St Augustine Campus of The University of the West Indies.

Brinsley Samaroo is a retired professor of History who lectured at the St Augustine Campus of The University of the West Indies.

Amílcar Sanatan is an interdisciplinary artist and MPhil is a postgraduate student at the Institute for Gender and Development Studies, The University of the West Indies, St. Augustine Campus. Sanatan is also the coordinator of The UWI Socialist Student Conference.

Scott Timcke (Ph.D.) is a lecturer in Communication Studies at The University of the West Indies, St. Augustine. Social inequality, the digital mode of production, and the causes and consequences of imperial violence in the early twenty-first century are the unifying themes of his research. He has written on the ramifications of structural injustices and social stratifications in the Global North and South respectfully.