

Notes on Contributors

Ruby Saturina Alleyne is a Research Officer at the National Institute of Higher Education (Research, Science & Technology) (NIHERST) in Trinidad. She is currently enrolled as a Part-Time Ph.D. student in the Faculty of Education, The University of the West Indies, St. Augustine.

Compton Bourne, Professor of Economics, is currently Pro Vice-Chancellor (Planning and Programming) and Deputy Principal, The University of the West Indies, St. Augustine.

Marie-Louise Brown is a Research Assistant at the Faculty of Education, The University of the West Indies, St. Augustine. Her research interest lies in the field of literacy in Creole-speaking society with special focus on reading acquisition.

Mervyn Millette is the Education Officer at the Trinidad and Tobago Unified Teachers Association (TTUTA).

Betty Ann Rohlehr is principal of El Dorado Junior Secondary school in Trinidad. She is co-author of four Social Studies texts, one of which, Social Studies Core Unit is a standard text for Social Studies students throughout the Caribbean.

Joshua Samm is a Curriculum Officer, Technical/Vocational Education in the Ministry of Education, Trinidad and Tobago.

Cherryl Stephens is a History teacher at St. George's College in Trinidad and a member of the CXC History Panel. She is currently enrolled as a Part-Time M. Phil student in the Faculty of Education, The University of the West Indies, St. Augustine.

Peter N. Whiteley is a lecturer in Science Education in the Department of Educational Studies, Faculty of Education, The University of the West Indies, St. Augustine.